

MAGGIE

I can't believe you're here!

JIM

(laughing a little)

Yeah?

MAGGIE

I was just sitting here by myself and I looked up and I saw you...

JIM

Did you do anything fun last night?

MAGGIE

Ummm... I met my friend Natalie for a glass of wine.

JIM

Sounds like a nice time.

MAGGIE

Yeah. We had a couple glasses of wine, actually.

As Maggie talks she starts to fidget with her white Converse tennis shoes and socks.

MAGGIE

Did you and Victoria do anything last night?

She continues to mess with her socks.

JIM

Well, we, uh.... are you having a problem down there?

Maggie gives a last definitive tug to her sock and looks up at Jim.

MAGGIE

I have really small ankles so
I have to wear kids' socks.

Jim laughs then looks at her ankles.

JIM

(smiling)

I see.

MAGGIE

Yeah, and I thought these would be small enough but they just keep falling down and...

Maggie reaches down as one of her socks starts slipping. Jim laughs, looking at his lovely friend, thoroughly charmed.